The Fast Track to High Volume Recruitment

Our Open Day Recruitment service is a highly effective solution when you need to rapidly recruit for a large number of nursing or healthcare roles. It's an efficient, cost-effective way to fast-track pre-interview processes which results in a shortlist of qualified and compliant candidates genuinely interested in working for your organisation.

The service starts with our recruitment team working with you to understand your requirements and the roles you need to fill.

From there, we develop a tailored advertising and marketing strategy for the Open Day. This will include highly targeted digital campaigns on job boards and across social media and search as well as outreach to the candidates on our database who meet your criteria.

Throughout this phase, our focus is on highlighting the benefits of working for your organisation using proven promotion strategies that maximise your budget and drive engagement.

Interested candidates are screened and, if they are suitable, invited to attend the Open Day, which is usually held at your organisation's site. This gives candidates the opportunity to see where they would be working and get an insight into your culture.

On the day itself, our team is available to screen and interview every candidate who attends. They also undertake compliance and documentation checks. The outcome is a shortlist of suitable candidates ready for interview by your recruitment team.

The suggested lead-in time from initial qualification to open day is approximately six weeks, which allows sufficient time to attract suitable talent to match your volume of requirements.
